

CAMPAIGN GO-LIVE

First Year On Us

Business Platinum Rewards Card - new customer first-year fee waiver

2025-10-27 - Prepared by Deepa Nair, Consumer & Business Cards Marketing

Go-live readiness review for the November cycle

THE OFFER

The whole offer in one line

YEAR ONE

0

Annual fee for new customers in their first year of membership.

AFTER YEAR ONE

$450.00

The standard Business Platinum annual fee, unchanged.

In full: first-year annual fee for new customers: 0 - after the first year the standard annual fee applies: $450.00. No points gymnastics, no rebate to chase. The fee line simply is not there in year one, and the card sells itself from there.

WHO QUALIFIES

New customers, new accounts, inside the window

New customers only

The waiver is for new customers only and applies to new accounts opened within the promotion window. The one-pager and the banner both carry this line word for word.

Stay open, stay in good standing

To retain the waived first-year fee, the account must remain open and in good standing. Front-line teams should say this at account opening, not at the first statement.

Existing cardmembers

This is not a switch-and-save play. Existing accounts keep their current terms, and the sales script says so plainly rather than leaving it to be discovered.

HOW IT SHOWS UP

What the account and the statement show

The waiver is reflected on the account during the first year of membership, only for new customers opening new accounts within the promotion dates, and the account must remain open and in good standing to retain it.

On the first statement

Nothing posts and reverses. The annual-fee line simply shows 0 for the first year - the cleanest version of the story, and the one customers repeat to each other.

Upgrades and product changes

If the customer upgrades or changes products during the promotional period, the waiver continues only if the account remains eligible. Servicing gets this exact sentence in the brief.

DATES AND CHANNELS

A four-month window, worked hard

Offer start date: 2025-11-01. Offer end date: 2026-02-28. Four statement cycles: long enough to catch year-end card shopping and the new-year bookkeeping reset, short enough to stay an event.

CHANNEL	WHAT RUNS	WHEN
Business banking app	Offer tile on the business home screen	Launch day, 2025-11-01
Relationship managers	Talking points and a one-page leave-behind	First two weeks of November
Statement message	One line on business card statements	November and December cycles
Branch business desks	Counter card at the business desk	Through the end of the window

OPS HANDOFF

What servicing needs on day one

The printed terms

Pricing sheet PT-BPL-01 carries the Business Platinum numbers. Anything with a dollar sign lives on the sheet - the campaign creative points, it does not quote.

The retention desk

Retention Operations gets a walkthrough before launch day. Closure and downgrade conversations will mention the waiver, and the desk should know the campaign dates cold. Owner: Renee Okafor.

Statement copy

Card Products Ops signs off on the statement message before the November cycle locks, so the line customers read matches the line agents say.

NEXT STEPS

Locked, and three things left

Creative finals

Banner and counter card files to production this week. Owner: Marcus Bell.

RM briefing

Talking points out ahead of launch day, with the eligibility lines exactly as printed on the sheet. Owner: Deepa Nair.

Servicing brief

Retention Operations walkthrough before 2025-11-01, dates and eligibility included. Owner: Renee Okafor.

Questions to the campaign channel. Dates and terms as printed here and on the sheet.